Happy Mother's Day

For most of us, our mothers have passed into eternity, where I trust they are basking in the glorious joys of the Lord. Most of the ladies present today are mothers and hopefully find joy in your children. Whether gone from our presence or present with us, mother should be precious to us. No mother is perfect, but the older we get and the farther back we look we see more of the wisdom and care our mother gave us. A mother who, herself, was taught responsibility and caring for others has a great start toward being a proficient nurturer for a child. Many qualities go into making a good mother but none so great as knowing and loving the Lord.

In this country, today is a special day to give thanks and honor to our mothers. Much has been said and written about the esteem we should hold for that women that gave us birth and gave of herself to provide so much for us. The personal qualities instilled into our character by our mothers is worth far more than physical wealth, for they have been, to a great measure, responsible for who we have become. Thank you Mom for all you have done.

No Sunday evening service tonight. Business meeting will be discussed in morning service.
